Redeeming Love

Jesus came to reconcile the conflicts of all time, so that all the world could join hands in him. Even at his manger the wealthy met the poor, the learned met the simple, the lost met the found ... Jesus came, and in his coming God reached all the way — to us.

Something Worth Living For

In this world of self-sufficiency, so influenced by the philosophies of humanism and materialism, often after we nearly destroy ourselves running our lives "our way," that we finally seek help from the Author of all Life. And isn't it special that the God who runs us best, loves us most? He could in his might make us serve Him as nature does, but he chose to create us with the freedom of choice: "... I have set before you life and death, blessing and cursing: therefore chose LIFE, that both thou and thy seed may live." (Deut. 30:19)

Even So, Lord Jesus, Come Knowing that the task of the great commission, to go tell the whole world, was almost too big for them to comprehend, feeling that time was short, knowing that they faced great persecution and almost certain death, the early Christians accepted their task, each other, and the world with the courage of these words: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus." It became a greeting, a pledge, almost a slogan of their commitment.

The cross and the empty tomb behind them, the whole Roman Empire around them, the promise of Christ's return before them, they lived out these words as they lived out their days: "Even so, come, Lord Jesus. Amen."

In the Upper Room

In the noisy, busy world in which we live it is all too easy to miss the quiet urgings of God's spirit, "the still small voice" of the Lord. How thankful we should be for these special times when in the "Upper Room" of our own heart, we quiet ourselves and He communes with us, satisfying our hunger with the Bread of Life, and quenching our thirst with the Fruit of Spirit.

I Will Serve Thee

Service to God can be motivated by many things : fear, duty, training, loyalty, habit, even guilt. But the best reason for serving God with our lives is love. If we first love Him, then serving him is as natural as breathing --- we give because he has given LIFE!

They That Sow In Tears

Have you prayed for someone or some problem until it just seemed that there would never be an answer? Did you invest your very heart in intercession to God, yet there seemed to be no feed-back from the throne? This song was taken directly from a promise of God found in Psalm 126:5,6. Listen: "They that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bringing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him."

Jesus is Lord of All

It is one thing to invite Christ into our lives as Savior, to be "born again," and quite another thing to make him really Lord, Lord of our longings and dreams, Lord of our failures and successes, Lord of our homes, marriages, children, Lord of our finances, Lord of everything. Until our commitment reaches that depth, there will be unresolved struggles and conflicts over the lordship of our lives. But when that commitment is made, the conflicts are resolved for Jesus is Lord of all--- and when Jesus wins, everybody wins!
